Plans Are Changing...

I arrived in London in February and I am so excited to be back after being away for a couple months. I have missed this church family so much. Being back has been a joy and I have loved meeting with young ladies for discipleship. Sadly after being here not even a month I got an email from the government saying I need to leave by May 16th. This is due to visa issues that I was told were resolved when I left a couple months ago. After consulting our lawyer it would be best for me to leave by that date and not return for at least six months. During which time I'll be figuring out future steps and praying for what God wants me to do. This has definitely thrown off what was originally planned which was for me to be here 6 months on a tourist visa. Thankfully God is still sovereign and His plan is better than my plan.

Next Steps

Since I'm able to stay in the UK until May I am going to be meeting people for discipleship, helping with primary, and jumping in wherever I can to serve this wonderful church. My next step for planning for the future is to continue praying and to knocking on more doors. Thank you to everyone who has been praying for me during this time of uncertainty. While I am excited for what the Lord has planned I am mourning the time I could have had with such wonderful people at my church here in London.

Prayer Requests

1. For God to give me a clear direction on future ministry here in the UK and wisdom to navigate these difficult visa situations.
2. Pray for the five girls I am currently taking through our discipleship program.
3. We have a missions team coming here to do evangelism this Easter break.
